LEGAL DUTY

Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. owed Pro se KEENAN BROWN duty of care when serving hot food and beverages. Defendant intentionally discriminated against plaintiff and choose not to put a lid on beverage not one but two large hot beverage nor cautions liners or even trays holder. Defendant intentionally threw them both at plaintiff causing burns bruise damages.

Defendant breached that duty of care when handling hot beverages and not keeping customer health in mind. The defendant breached that duty of care which led to serious damages Pro se experience since that occurred at Defendant MCDONALDS RESTUARANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. Defendant has a duty to provide a safe dining environment to its customer but failed and breach duty they caused Pro se burns injury and damage. Defendant have a duty to make sure Plaintiff had a safe experience without being injured. There was no waring to plaintiff and because of this negligence plaintiff suffered.

Plaintiff suffered damages due to Defendant negligence and injury and emotional stress trauma were a result in the breach of that duty Defendant owed Plaintiff being a paying customer. In the case of Dillion v. Legg. (Plaintiff appealed the dismissal of her action to recover damages for emotional trauma and physical injury caused by witnessing the death of her infant daughter, who was struck and killed by a car negligently driven by defendant.) DILLION V. LEGG-68 CAL.2d 728,69 cal rptr.72,441 P.2d912 (1968)

2. Pro se suffered mental trauma of flash backs of the unlawful actions caused by defendant. Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. clearly had the necessary tools to prevent danger from harming pro se but failed too by not following proper steps of restaurant policy's when fulfilling pro se orders before and after purchased.

In case of MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co. - 217 N.Y. 382, 111 N.E. 1050 (1916) Defendant was not absolved from a duty of inspection because it bought the wheels from a reputable manufacturer the defendant was supposed to make sure everything done correctly when providing paid services to its customer in this case the defendant was held liable for its unlawful actions from judges.

Defendant also chosen not to comfort pro se during his suffering damage, but defendant intended to continue with reckless behavior acts by taunting laughing and mocking pro se as being a customer saying harmful things while being assaulted.

Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. chosen to harm Pro se as a customer pro se did not deserve treatment of being discriminated against based on his protected status being African American male. Defendant showed reckless disregard even after Plaintiff has suffered damages and failed to accommodate Plaintiff. Pro se has made several calls to Defendant store also Corporate, and Defendant failed to show care. Defendant has not upheld its own policies and violated health, state and federal laws.

Heart of Atlanta Motel v. United States - 379 U.S. 241, 85 S. Ct. 348 (1964) "Appellant motel owner-operator, which discriminated in the renting of its rooms on the basis of race, sought review of a judgment by attacking the constitutionality of Title II of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Section § 202 of Title II of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 affirmatively declares that all persons shall be entitled to be free, at any establishment or place, from discrimination or segregation of any kind on the ground of race, color, religion, or national origin, if such discrimination or segregation is or purports to be required by any law, statute, ordinance, regulation, rule, or order of a State or any agency or political subdivision thereof.

§ 203 of the Act prohibits the withholding or denial, etc., of any right or privilege secured by §§ 201, § 202 or the intimidation, threatening or coercion of any person with the purpose of interfering with any such right or the punishing, etc., of any person for exercising or attempting to exercise any such right. The district court upheld the constitutionality of Title II of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and enjoined the motel owner-operator from refusing to accommodate African American guests for racial reasons. The motel owner-operator sought further review."

Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. owe duty of care by unlawfully violating Pro se by throwing hot food and beverages at Pro se due to Illinois Food Handling certification. Defendant didn't act reasonably to keep Plaintiff safe from injuries, damages, and burns. Plaintiff Keenan would not have been injured if Defendant was acting with care and kept a safe environment for its paying customer like Pro se. No intervening acts contributed to the injury. Defendant discrimination, negligence and breach of duty of care caused damages.

In the case of LANE V. HARDEE'S FOOD SYS. "The court reversed and remanded the matter because a jury could reasonably have found for plaintiff. The court held that defendant owed plaintiff the duty of exercising reasonable care in maintaining the premises in a reasonably safe condition. If plaintiff was injured by slipping on water left on the premises by the owner or its agent, defendant business would be liable whether it had knowledge or not.

If the water was on the premises through acts of a third person, or if there was no showing of how it got there, defendant would normally have been liable if it had actual or constructive knowledge of its presence or if the water was there a sufficient length of time so that its presence should have been discovered.

The court reversed judgment as a matter of law in favor of defendant restaurant owner and remanded the case for proceedings consistent with the opinion because plaintiff met his burden of presenting sufficient evidence on which a reasonable jury could base a verdict in his favor". LANE vs HARDEE'S FOOD SYS. -184 F.3d705 LEXIS NEXUS

THE DUTY OF CARE HAS BEEN BREACHED

Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. Has failed to do any terminations or coaching to individuals involved with discriminating against plaintiff by throwing hot tea beverage that burned pro se in which injuries resulting in breach of duty

Duty of care is legal obligation imposed in which Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC is required to performing once or before business tractions occurred. Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC failed to uphold its policy to accommodate safety of the pro se as well breached contract after transactions. Palsgraf v. Long Island R. Co. - 248 N.Y. 339

In the case Palsgraf v. Long Island R. Co. - 248 N.Y. 339 the package was dislodged, fell onto the rails, and exploded. The shock of the explosion caused a scale to fall onto plaintiff passenger, who filed this lawsuit for injuries due to defendant's alleged negligence.

The trial term court (the Supreme Court) entered a verdict for plaintiff. In 1927, the Supreme Court, Appellate Division affirmed the judgment in favor of plaintiff. These two lower courts held that the negligent acts of the railroad's employees caused the package that contained explosives to be thrown under the train where they exploded. Palsgraf v. Long Island R. Co. - 248 N.Y. 339

BROWN PREVIOUS COMPLAINT

1. Plaintiff Keenan Brown filed initial complaint February 2nd, 2020. After filing initial complaint Judge Kennelly issued order back to Pro Se Litigant on March 25th, 2020. Judge Kennelly stated that there were two significant problems with this complaint. "First, he has not sued the proper defendant he needs to sue the owner of the particular McDonalds franchise and, perhaps, the employee, not the national corporate entity whose actual name is McDonalds' Corp". "Second, and perhaps most importantly, there does not appear to be a basis for federal Jurisdiction over Mr. Brown's claims. His complaint does not describe a violation of any federal statute-at least none that he identifies."

3. Judge Kennelly stated that the Defendant actual name is McDonalds's Corp and stated that this McDonald's Plaintiff is suing a franchise. The information Judge Kennelly stated is incorrect. Defendant Store located in Bolingbrook, Illinois on Weber Rd, is a Corporate store and not ran by a franchise owner. Plaintiff has done his own due diligence and the Defendant is McDonald's Restaurants of Illinois Inc. (see EXHIBIT A, E,F,G,N)

4. Judge Kennelly never granted the U.S. Marshalls to serve the defendant to even verify whether Plaintiff was suing the correct Defendant. Summons was never issued in the previous case the Defendant was not served nor did the defendant file attorney appearance. (see EXHIBIT A B,M,O, D&J). This case shall not be transferred back to Judge Kennelly due to his assumptions and lack of research efforts stating that this store is a franchise and not issuing summons to defendant. Judge Kennelly never gave Pro se Litigant case a chance for trial by jury. Plaintiff has stated claims that relief can be granted also his civil rights was not respected. (see EXHIBIT D,E,F,G,&J)

5. It appears to pro se litigant that Judge Kennelly defeated Pro se without a response from the defendant to file motion to dismiss. Pro se litigant received a via email form previous state court defendant attorney Stacy Falco stating "I was just on the website for the Northern District of Illinois, and it appears you filed something against McDonald's Restaurants – case number 20 CV 851. I previously asked you to send me a copy of any complaint that you may file in federal court, but I have not received any filed document a of yet. My client also has not received any document filed against it in federal court. Please email me a copy of anything you have filed against McDonald's in federal court. Thank you." Stacy. (See EXHIBIT B&D, E, F, G, &J)

RES JUDICATA

6. Res Judicata a loser defendant or plaintiff cannot re-sue a winner when both cases involve the same parties or privies, of the same cause of action unless the losing party is suing for a different action. In this case Res Judicata does not apply to this case because this is a new defendant. McDonald's Restaurants of Illinois Inc. (see Exhibit A&N) McDonald's Restaurants Inc was not served for it to even be litigated. Neither has McDonald's Restaurants of Illinois Inc. The previous state attorney admitted via email that attorney and client has not or never been served a US summon usm-285 form the USA Marshall nor was there a receipt of proof of service that Pro Se Litigant was suing the wrong defendant. (see EXHIBIT A B, D&N) For Example, Pro Se current complaint, Brown was sent proof of service on May 21, 2021. (see EXHIBIT C)

7. McDonald's Restaurant of Illinois Inc. has never been litigated neither has the case been brought to district court. Res judicata only applies to a case that has been litigated and judged. Res Judicata does not apply because it's not the same defendant and the previous defendant never got served. (see EXHIBIT A B, C, D E, F G& N) if the defendant was served pro se would have received a proof of services like his 2021 complaint. But It was never entered into docket system of defendant filing attorney appearance or proof of summons for case that was with Judge Kennelly. (see EXHIBIT C)

IN FORMA PAUPERIS

Previous Judge Kennelly dismissed and skipped pro se litigant In forma Pauperis. Judge enter judgment without even accepting the case so if Informa Pauperis was never granted plaintiff case shouldn't been denied before the In forma Pauperis was granted the judge never let the defendant argue or defend its response to pro se litigant claim. (See Exhibit D,J,O,&G)

The defendant is claiming the res judicata rules, but this is not a reassignment. This consider a new case due never being served a summoned form from US Marshall nor did Pro Se litigant receive a proof service nor did the defendant file attorney appearance in previous in pro se litigant complaint case No.20 cv851 February 5th 2020. On March 31st,2021 pro se filed a new case complaint and the defendant respond by filing an attorney appearance and notice of filing stating the aware of case (see EXHIBIT C, L, M). (see EXHIBIT A, D, N &J). MCDONALD'S RESTAURANRANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. In which was not filed in District court on February 2nd, 2020. (see EXHIBIT I,A N, D)

The defendant acknowledge they has been served due to proof services return and attorney appearance and filing. (see EXHIBIT C) for new case but never filed attorney appearance nor a notice of filing during plaintiff pervious complaint case No.20cv851. (See EXHIBIT B,D)

RULE 12(B)(6)

On page four docket No.13 ¶ the defendant is claiming Frcp 12(b)(1) & (1)&(6) “rule stating the court does not have jurisdiction over actions.” (See EXHIBIT Q)

Pro Se case should not be dismissed nor transferred. Defendant owed Pro Se duty of care when throwing hot beverage at Pro Se. Defendant breached that duty based on Pro Se protected status being an African American Male. Plaintiff suffered injuries due to defendant negligence and intentional discrimination by throwing two hot teas beverages at Pro Se and Defendant was aware beverages were extremely hot and knew there was no lid. Plaintiff suffered burns, mental damage, emotional trauma, panic attacks, anxiety, mental intellect was off and disturb, pain and suffering. It affected plaintiff work couldn't perform properly. The injuries were a result of Defendant throwing two hot teas beverage at plaintiff.

RULE 12(B)(1)

Jurisdiction is proper because Pro Se Litigant is a citizen of the state of Georgia. Pro Se can provide legal proof that Federal Laws requires, and Honorable Judge Norgle sees fit. 28 U.S. Code § 1332 - Diversity of citizenship. (a)The district courts shall have original jurisdiction of all civil actions where the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and is between— (1) citizens of different States.

CONCLUSION

In closing, Pro se litigant is requesting that honorable Judge Norgle will resume litigating this proceeding. Plaintiff is demanding justice and case be tried before a jury in the court of law Plaintiff is requesting that Defendant Motion to dismiss be denied. Plaintiff is requesting relief to be granted due to damages caused by Defendant. MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. breached duty of care by failing to exercise reasonable care in fulfilling the duty of serving a beverage beyond hot temperature to Pro Se KEENAN BROWN. Breach of that duty has caused burns psychological trauma, emotional distress, and pain and suffering.

Pro Se has showed cause and is owed his day in court with defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. Pro Se has shown his due process, due diligence and shouldn't be barred from case being heard. Plaintiff is a Pro Se in this case and not an attorney, Pro Se has sought as many resources through this pandemic to support case and shouldn't be held such the highest standard. Plaintiff understands there are rules and procedures in the court of law and has put forth due process to follow.

Defendant owed plaintiff duty of care. Defendant showed reckless disregard and discriminated against plaintiff based on protected status being an African American male. Defendant was aware that beverages were above average and intentionally didn't put lid on two cups and threw them at plaintiff. No intervening acts contributed to Plaintiff injury. Pro Se is entitled to relief. Liebeck v. McDonald's Restaurants U.S. CV 93-02419, (1995)

Plaintiff has suffered burns emotional damage having sleepless night mental trauma seeking therapy from pastor's panic attacks flashback reliving that that moment over and over in his head causing Pro se litigant to be antisocial. Relief should be granted because defendant owed plaintiff duty of care when serving. Pro Se Keenan is seeking relief. This case shouldn't be transferred to Judge Kennelly because Res Judicata cannot be applied. Defendant was never served or issued summons and defendant has never filed an appearance regarding this matter.

This is Pro Se first time filing a complaint in Federal Court against MCDONALD'S RESTAURANT OF ILLINOIS INC. (See EXHIBIT A,B,N,D,O)

Jurisdiction is proper because plaintiff is a citizen of the state of Georgia and plaintiff is a resident in Roswell Georgia and can provide legal proof that Judge Norgle sees proper and federal law requires. Defendant shall not refer to plaintiff being a citizen of Illinois that is not Plaintiff residence and defendant shall not send mail to a residence that plaintiff didn't provide to Northern District Court for this case. (See EXHIBIT P) Nothing has ever been filed in district court against MCDONALD'S RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. which is the proper defendant. No case has ever been litigated or judged towards defendant MCDONALD'S RESTAURANT OF ILLINOIS INC.

Plaintiff should not be bound by Res Judicata because Pro Se has never had an opportunity to have his day in court. Only Defendant from a former judgement can claim res judicata and defendant MCDONALD'S RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. has not had its day in federal court with plaintiff KEENAN BROWN. This rule defendant is claiming is impractical. Pro Se has stated claim that is plausible on its face and has given all facts. Defendant MCDONALDS RESTAURANTS OF ILLINOIS INC. is in possession of that video recording that took place on October 24th 2019. (See Exhibit A,D,N&J)

FOR THESE REASONS STATED, Pro Se Keenan Brown case shall continue to move forward with Honorable Judge Norgle and this matter be tried before a Jury in Plaintiff favor, and relief be granted on Plaintiff behalf that Jury and Honorable Judge sees fit.

Case No: 20 C 851

Judge Kennelly

ORDER

For the reasons stated below, the Court directs the Clerk to enter judgment dismissing plaintiff's federal claim with prejudice and dismissing any state-law claims without prejudice for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

STATEMENT

In response to the Court's order of March 25, 2020 identifying defects in plaintiff Keenan Brown's complaint, dismissing it, and telling him that unless he corrected these defects the Court would dismiss his case, Mr. Brown filed an amended complaint in which he essentially changed nothing. First, he still has sued the wrong defendant, McDonalds' Restaurants Inc., a national entity and not the particular entity that he claims wronged him. Second, his claim does not describe a cognizable violation of any federal statute, and Mr. Brown offers no other basis for federal jurisdiction (diversity of citizenship does not exist, as the Court explained in its March 25 order). The only statute that comes close is 42 U.S.C. § 1981, but Mr. Brown describes what amounts to a personal injury claim, whereas section 1981 concerns discrimination in connection with contractual rights. See, e.g., Domino's Pizza, Inc. v. McDonald, 546 U.S. 470, 476 (2006). This is not what Mr. Brown has alleged. He may be able to assert a personal injury claim in state court, but his federal claim cannot be sustained. The Clerk is directed to enter judgment dismissing Mr. Brown's federal claim with prejudice and dismissing any state-law claims for lack of federal subject matter jurisdiction.

ORDER

Plaintiff Keenan Brown has moved to reopen the case, which the Court dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, and to file an amended complaint. The Court denies the motion [14]. Mr. Brown now seeks to sue a different defendant, but both he and the new defendant are Illinois citizens, which means diversity jurisdiction is lacking. And Mr. Brown's claims still are not sufficient to invoke federal-question jurisdiction: his asserted claim under 42 U.S.C. § 1981 remains deficient for the reasons previously discussed, and his asserted claim under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 is deficient because that governs discrimination in employment, and Mr. Brown does not claim that he was or was applying to be an employee of the defendant.

EXHIBIT (F)

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS

Keenan Brown,

Plaintiff,

Case No: 20 C 851

McDonalds' Restaurants Inc.,
Defendant.

Judge: Kennelly

ORDER

For the reasons stated below, the Court dismisses plaintiff's complaint for failure to state a claim. Unless he files, by 4/20/2020, a proposed amended complaint that states a viable claim over which this Court has jurisdiction, the Court will enter judgment against him.

STATEMENT

Keenan Brown has filed a pro se complaint against McDonalds' Restaurants Inc. and a motion to proceed in forma pauperis, that is, without prepaying the filing fee. For this reason, the Court reviews Mr. Brown's complaint to determine whether it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). Mr. Brown alleges that on October 24, 2019, he went to a McDonald's at an unidentified location and ordered food and beverages. He says that a McDonalds worker brought him two hot teas "with no lid tray holder or caution warning signs" and then "toss[ed] steaming hot tea" at him, causing burns. He says the employee did this due to Mr. Brown's race, African-American. He is suing to recover damages for humiliation, pain and suffering.

There are two significant problems with Mr. Brown's complaint. First, he has not sued the proper defendant. He needs to sue the owner of the particular McDonalds franchise and, perhaps, the employee, not the national corporate entity (whose actual name is McDonald's Corp.). Second, and perhaps more importantly, there does not appear to be a basis for federal subject matter jurisdiction over Mr. Brown's claims. His complaint does not describe a violation of any federal statute—at least none that he identifies. And federal diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332 is lacking, because McDonald's Corp.'s headquarters (and thus its principal place of business) is in Illinois, making it, like Mr. Brown himself, an Illinois citizen. Unless Mr. Brown can cure these defects by the date listed above, the Court will enter judgment against him.

THOMAS G. BRUTON
CLERK, U.S. DISTRICT COURT

Rev. 06/23/2016

[If you need additional space for ANY section, please attach an additional sheet and reference that section.]

10. Every one of the four complaints the plaintiff has filed has been regarding one transaction – the purchase of hot tea at the Bolingbrook McDonald's restaurant on October 24, 2019.

11. In this case, all three requirements of res judicata are met. The plaintiff filed a prior lawsuit in the Northern District of Illinois, No. 20 cv 851, and the lawsuit was based on the exact same incident which is alleged in the current complaint. In both complaints, the plaintiff asserts an alleged incident which took place on October 24, 2019 at a Bolingbrook McDonald's restaurant whereby the plaintiff claims he was injured from hot tea and racially discriminated against. Furthermore, in both cases the plaintiff sued McDonald's. The plaintiff did not use the proper entity name in the first complaint, but the complaint was against McDonald's Restaurants. Lastly, the court entered a final judgment in the initial case, dismissing all federal court claims with prejudice. (Ex. F).

12. If the plaintiff wanted to assert claims pursuant to 42 USC §1981 and 28 USC §1332, those must have been asserted in the initial case. Once the plaintiff's complaint as to all federal claims was dismissed with prejudice, the plaintiff's only options were to file an appeal to the Seventh Circuit or re-file in state court. Pursuant to res judicata the plaintiff is barred from filing a new complaint and asserting federal claims. Therefore, the plaintiff's complaint should be dismissed with prejudice.

Rule 12(b)(1) Failure To Establish Court's Diversity Jurisdiction Over This Action

13. Assuming arguendo, the court does not dismiss the plaintiff's complaint based on res judicata, the complaint should be dismissed pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) because the court does not have diversity jurisdiction over this action.
